So, what is automated trading? It is a trading strategy where an automated computer program either takes the decision for you or monitors the progress of your trade and implements the necessary changes in your account accordingly. Of course, automated trading software is not just any program. It is a trading strategy that is specially designed to help you trade the currency markets in a more profitable way. A trading system like EAMT Automated Forex Trading System monitors the progress of your currency pair as you place your orders. If it detects that the price of your chosen currency pair starts to move upwards, it executes a trade and buys the currency pair. If the price starts to decline, 6a5afdab4c
